BBR* to cease large-print publication at end of FY22

Due to the worldwide paper shortage and declining subscriber numbers, the last large-print issue of Braille Book Review (BBR) will be September–October 2022. This will not affect production of other accessible versions of BBR. It will remain available in hardcopy braille, ebraille, and HTML.

- To subscribe to BBR in hardcopy braille, contact your cooperating network library. A list of email addresses and phone numbers is available on the final pages of this publication. They may also be found at www.loc.gov/nls/findyourlibrary.
- To subscribe to BBR in ebraille, visit BARD, the Braille and Audio Reading Download service, or BARD Mobile. If you do not already have a BARD account, visit www.loc.gov/nls/braille-audio-reading-materials/bard-access for instructions on how to sign up.
  - On the BARD website, select Braille Book Review (braille) in the drop-down menu Magazines by Title and then select Subscribe to Braille Book Review (braille). Individual issues can also be downloaded.
  - On BARD Mobile, select Get Books, then Browse Magazines, then Braille Magazines, then Braille Book Review (braille). If you are using the app visually, tap the + symbol at the top of the screen to subscribe. If you are using Voiceover, this button is labeled Subscribe.
- To view BBR in HTML, visit www.loc.gov/nls/bbr.

The same supply chain issues have also affected Talking Book Topics (TBT), which ceased large-print publication after the January–February 2022 issue. TBT remains available in HTML and PDF at www.loc.gov/nls/tbt and in audio from BARD, BARD Mobile, or via by-mail magazine on cartridge subscription.

BARD Mobile Android now supports braille

Version 1.4 of the BARD Mobile app for Android allows patrons to read contracted braille with supported refreshable braille displays with Google BrailleBack. A list of supported displays may be found on the Google BrailleBack app page at <https://bit.ly/3r9T71g>. Additional details on how to set up your BARD Mobile Android app for braille reading may be found in the User Manual at www.loc.gov/nls/braille-audio-reading-materials/bard-access/bard-mobile-android.

The braille functionality of version 1.4 for Android is similar to the braille functionality on BARD Mobile for iOS (iPhone and iPad). It offers user-adjustable settings including:

- Braille Reflow adjusts formatting for displays shorter than 40 cells
- Braille Autoscroll allows users to move through braille text automatically based on adjustable time increments

BARD French interface live

The BARD website interface is now available in French, as well as English and Spanish. Patrons who would prefer to use BARD in French or Spanish can do so by selecting their language of choice from the Language Interface Settings drop-down menu on the Account Settings page under the “My BARD” section on the main page.

Popular Science* now available in audio

NLS is no longer producing Popular Science in braille. However, it is now available in audio as a locally produced magazine. It may be downloaded or subscribed to via BARD or BARD Mobile, or it can be subscribed to via the magazine on cartridge program.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. The National Library Service for the Blind and Print Disabled reserves the right to publish announcements selectively, as space permits. The items mentioned below are not part of the NLS program, and their listings do not imply endorsement or support. Prices and details about listed items were correct at the time of compilation but are subject to change.

COVID tests available by mail

The US government is making free COVID-19 tests available to all US residents via USPS delivery. To order tests, please visit www.covid.gov/tests or call 800-232-0233. If you have difficulty obtaining or using the tests, the National Federation of the Blind (NFB) has assembled a clearinghouse of information on test accessibility at <https://nfb.org/covidtests>.

FCC launches Affordable Connectivity Program

The US Federal Communications Commission (FCC) recently launched the Affordable Connectivity Program, which helps low income households pay for broadband service and Internet connected devices. For more information on eligibility and the application process, please visit <https://acpbenefit.org>.

OIB Lessons now available in Spanish

The Older Individuals who are Blind Technical Assistance Center (OIB-TAC), part of the National Research and Training Center on Blindness and Low Vision at the University of Mississippi, has recently made its free independent living curriculum available in Spanish. Lessons may be found at www.oib-tac.org/direct-service/curriculum/lessons-for-living-en-espanol. They continue to be available in English at www.oib-tac.org/direct-service/curriculum.

Braille scanner app available

Patrons who are early braille learners may be interested in Braille Scanner, a new free app for iOS that can convert images of braille documents to text. Voiceover can then read the text aloud. The app runs on iOS versions 14.7 and later. For more information, find Braille Scanner in the App Store at <https://apps.apple.com/ke/app/braille-scanner/id1517369095>.

Books for Adults

All books listed in this issue of Talking Book Topics (TBT) have been distributed to cooperating libraries, though TBT does not include every book that has been produced by NLS. The complete collection, containing a wide range of fiction and nonfiction books, including biographies, classics, westerns, mysteries, and romances, can be found by visiting www.loc.gov/nls.

Registered users may also download all titles and magazines from the NLS Braille and Audio Reading Download (BARD) service at <https://nlsbard.loc.gov>. The free BARD Mobile app is available from the App Store, Google Play, and Amazon's Appstore for reading talking books on your personal smart phone or tablet. To learn more about the collection or to sign up for BARD, contact your local cooperating library. Regional library telephone numbers and email addresses are listed on the last pages of this magazine.

Books within the headings Adult Fiction and Adult Nonfiction are listed alphabetically by subject category, author last name, and title. For example the title War and Peace by Leo Tolstoy would be listed in Adult Fiction under the Classics subject category and by the last name Tolstoy.

Note: A notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of violence, strong language, or descriptions of sex. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language." Commercial audiobooks for which NLS does not have access to the print book may display the notice "unrated," which means that the book may or may not contain violence, strong language, or descriptions of sex.
